life is right

The story of two families united by kinship and separated by disputes, one of them from a poor class. The two families meet in an abandoned house accompanied by a lawyer who tells them that $10 million are waiting for them, the heirs of their grandfather. If they manage to convert the house into a hotel within a year, will the millions be theirs?

Drama / contemporary / social / suspense / comic

Lawyer Ezz El-Din asks to meet Abu Musleh, his wife Sharifa, and their son Karim. He also surprises his brother's widow Bailsan and her daughter Julia with the same request. When each family comes to meet the lawyer's request, he tells them that a relative of theirs died in a foreign country and left them $10 million. The two families rejoice, but the lawyer tells them that this $10 million is conditional by turning this abandoned house into a hotel, they make it a success for a whole year, so the two families agree, trying to coexist with each other, then distributing tasks between them, and the hotel is filled with visitors of all shapes and colors. After that, affection prevails between the two families for a while, but disputes over control of the hotel business and attempts to make it a success through various projects cause problems between Bailsan, Abu Musleh and Sharifa, so they meet at times and separate at other times, which affects the love and marriage relationship between Julia and Karim.
